How It Works

BIT TRADE WORLD

Once you have selected a trader, our system automatically replicates their trades in your account. You can sit back, relax, and watch your portfolio

BIT MARKET HUB

Trading

- ✓ In traditional trading, individuals make their own trading decisions, execute orders, and have full control over their strategies.
- ✓ Traders need to have a deep understanding of market analysis, technical indicators, and risk management.
- ✓ Traders make decisions based on their analysis and market research.
- ✓ Active trading can be time-consuming, requiring constant monitoring of the markets.
- ✓ Traders are responsible for managing their own risk and exposure.

Copy Trading

- ✓ Copy trading involves copying the trades of experienced traders. Investors have limited control and rely on the expertise of others.
- ✓ Investors don't need extensive knowledge; they rely on the skills of the selected traders they follow.
- ✓ Followers (investors) don't make trading decisions; they simply choose a trader to copy.
- ✓ It's a passive approach, as investors delegate trading decisions to others. Risk management is handled by the chosen trader, which can be an advantage or disadvantage.
